Words of Praise

from Past Attendees....

I was moved, inspired and informed - all at the same time - during the Diversity Women's Business Conference 2010. This was actually the first time that I did not want a conference to end as the dialogue that was started resonated with my life and provided tool we can all use as woman in our daily lives. The thought that touched me most was spoken by the Great Maya Angelou " Courage is the most important of all the virtues...if you have courage you can practice any other virtues consistently. You can be everything you want to be: kind, true, just, fair, merciful and even loving but courage is the most important...Our world needs [courage] now.

— Donna St-Denis, Marketing Consultant

The Diversity Woman Magazine Conference was for me a life-changing experience! I attended this year's conference and was amazed by the extraordinary networking opportunities and the high profile speakers. Attending was not only rewarding, but also empowering.

— Gabriela Morales, U.S. Department of Commerce

This year's Diversity Woman Conference was truly life-changing. The chance to be empowered in a multicultural environment and hear from keynote speakers and revered trailblazers including Dr. Maya Angelou, Dr. Julianne Malveaux and Dr. Johnnetta Cole, was an historical opportunity that I will never forget. I am grateful to Sheila Robinson and the Diversity Woman team for their tireless effort and dedication to this extraordinary event, and look forward to participating next year.

— Samantha McCoy, Marketing Manager

This conference was unique! I have never met so many outstanding minority women together in one place. Not to mention the amazing, inspirational speeches that touched my soul. It was a truly learning experience.

— Julia M. Bartlett

I honestly believe the conference was life-changing for me. The speeches were inspiring and made me look at my life and what I should do differently.
