DAY ONE

Monday, October 10, 2011 7:30 am – 5:00 pm

7:30 am	Exhibit Hall Opens
7:30 am	Registration & Breakfast
8:00–8:15 am	Welcome & Opening Remarks Dr. Paula Ribeau , First Lady , Howard University Jackie Glenn , Global Chief Diversity Officer , EMC
8:15–9:00 am	INNOVATION & COLLABORATION KEYNOTES Carmen J. Smith , “Women & Innovation”, Vice President Of Global Strategies for Diversity and Inclusion , Walt Disney Parks & Recreation Worldwide
9:00–9:45 am	Lisa Price , “Women, Collaboration & Entrepreneurship”, Founder , Carol’s Daughter
9:45–10:00 am	10 minute break
10:00–11:15 am	Leadership 2020: Creating Pathways to Leadership for Women In recent years, there have been many firsts for women—the first woman Speaker of the House, the first woman solo news anchor, the first Latina woman on the Supreme Court, the first (and only) woman to win an IndyCar race, and the first African-American woman to head a Fortune 500 company. While we celebrate women leaders of today, we know there continue to be many talented women and too few women leaders, due in part to challenges such as work-life balance, financial pressures, race and culture. Panelists will explore the ways certain opportunities for leadership roles in corporate, non-profit and policy fields helped advance their careers, and explore models for ways various sectors, together and independently, can help create pathways to leadership for future generations of women leaders. MODERATOR: Serra Sippel , President , Center for Health and Gender Equity (CHANGE) PANELISTS: • Kierra Johnson , Executive Director , ChoiceUSA • Miriam Yeung , Executive Director , National Asian Pacific American Women’s Forum (NAPAWF) • Maria Tildon , Senior Vice President of Public Policy and Community Affairs , CareFirst BlueCross • Dr. Shireen Lewis , Executive Director , SisterMentors

Effective Leadership of Inclusive Teams

In response to feedback that white male leaders felt excluded from diversity and inclusion efforts, Lockheed Martin launched a program for all Vice Presidents and above in partnership with the organization White Men as Full Diversity Partners to address this issue. The program includes two learning labs. The first, Effective Leadership of Inclusive Teams (ELOIT), is designed to create an environment where white men, often for the first time, can honestly explore their real questions, challenges, and aspirations around "diversity issues" in their organizations and lives.

This panel discussion will include alumni from both learning labs who will share their experiences and key learning's from these powerful sessions.

THE FUTURE OF LEADERSHIP, WOMEN, INNOVATION & COLLABORATION

4:15–5:00 pm

Men and Women as Full Partners in Workplace Advancement

PRESENTER: Howard J. Ross, Founder & Chief Learning Officer, Cook Ross Inc.

The reality is that while more and more women are ascending to organizational leadership, many companies still need to make greater progress in narrowing the “gender gap” that has led to lost opportunities to maximize the talent of women. The result is lost time and money, squandered opportunities, lingering personal resentments, and executive burnout. In this interactive session, Howard Ross will outline 4 myths of talent development and offer 7 clear steps that will accelerate partnerships between women and men in the workforce.

Women Power

PRESENTER: Mariela Dabbah

“Mariela Dabbah is an award-winning, best-selling author of books that promote success through education and career development. Through a highly energetic, engaging and participative style, Mariela Dabbah will encourage the audience to take responsibility for their own professional development. During her presentation, Mariela will review certain subconscious messages and mandates that many women receive growing up and that may be having an unacknowledged impact on their professional behavior. She will then encourage participants to identify their own path to success and to position themselves for their next career role by offering specific tools that are often underutilized by women.
